

success loves personality

At BASF, individuality and personality are important to your success with the company. We value wisdom gained through life's experience – and we know that each one of our employees has the potential for a lifetime of development. At the world's leading chemical company, that means every employee can make a contribution. At BASF, we create chemistry.

www.basf.com/careers

 BASF

The Chemical Company