

thrill seekers love safety

There are many extreme athletes who work at the world's leading chemical company. People like Maria Guadalupe of BASF Mexico, a food engineer turned safety specialist, who ensures next-generation innovations meet today's safety standards. If you're passionate about advancing safety and improving the world we all live in, discover a company where you can accomplish both. At BASF, we create chemistry.

www.basf.com/careers

 BASF

The Chemical Company

